TYPHOON IN PHILIPPINES.

Theresa Kalb Rath Gives Graphic Description in Ohio Paper.

The Daily Examiner of Bellefontaine, O., of recent date contains a letter from Mrs. Charles Rath of Tacloban, Leyte, Philippine Islands, giving a graphic account of a typhoon that swept the coast of Leyte about two months ago.

Mrs. Rath, who will be well remembered in Maryville as Miss Theresa Kalb, instructor in English in the Maryville seminary, is engaged with her husband, in Presbyterian missionary work in the Philippines, while her sister, who visited her there, is a missionary in Africa.

Mrs. Rath and her husband narrowly escaped being swept into the sea, only two blocks from their home, when they left their residence in the midst of the storm to go to the high school building, a ten minutes' walk, for a place of safety. The walls of their own home were swaying back and forth with such regularity after two of the kitchen and bath room walls had gone down, that Mrs. Rath could not stand it longer and left the house for a bigger, stronger building, her husband following. They found things worse away from home, the high school building being down, having withstood the typhoon once each year for five years. They returned home in the dead calm that followed the terrible storm to get ready for its return in about twenty minutes. Quite a number of people had sought refuge in their home, as it was still standing, though badly wrecked, and everyone went to work to strengthen the windows, doors and walls. They went safely through the typhoon's return, although they and all they had was soaked with water, and it would require two weeks' work to repair their home.

Mrs. Rath's letter was written to her uncle, J. V. Stevenson of Bellefontaine. Her father, Albert Kalb, lives at Fort Stockton, Texas.

Death of Colored Woman.

Lula Collier, colored, aged about 27 years, died Monday morning at the home of her mother Mrs. Fannie Baker Martin, 2510 Bartlett street, St. Joseph. The body was brought to Maryville Tuesday noon and taken to the home of Mrs. Mary Stewart. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the African M. E. church. Burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

WHITE WAY JUNE 1

WORK TO START NEXT WEEK ON FOUNDATIONS FOR POLES.

WIRES TO GO TO ALLEYS

Unightly Poles to Come Down On Business Streets in Which White Way Will Be Placed.

Work will start within the next week on the foundation for the white way poles, and if all the material, such as poles, the cable and the lights are shipped as soon as they agreed to send them, the white way will be completed here by June 1. Some little difficulty is being had on shipping the material, owing to the Ohio floods tying up all of the eastern railroads in that state. The material will come from the east.

The Electric Light company is now at work changing their wires from the poles in the streets of the business section of the city to the poles in the alleys. As soon as the work is finished of changing the wires the light company will then take down their poles on these streets, where the white way will be. The poles of the telephone company will also be taken down and the Commercial club has requested the Western Union company to do so, making the business section more attractive without the poles. The wires to the buildings are being put through a conduit on the front of the buildings.

A regulator for general street lighting has been ordered and will be here soon. The present arcs are to be replaced by 80 c. p. mazda lights. There will be 170 of these lights. In the white way there will be seventy-two poles of five lights each.

BUYS HIS INTEREST.

L. S. Byers Buys Out His Partner, Charles Buhler, in Grocery Store.

A change was made Monday in the Byers & Buhler grocery store, L. S. Byers buying out the interest of his partner, Charles Buhler. Possession was given Monday. The new store will be known as the Byers grocery store and L. S. Byers will have full control.

Mr. Byers has been in the grocery business in Maryville for twenty years. He was first employed in the grocery store of J. B. Cox, then W. B. Frost, William Wright, Saylor & Bartlett, then went in business under the firm name of Byers & Eckles. For the past ten years Mr. Byers and Mr. Buhler have been partners. Mr. Byers is an experienced groceryman and will keep his store up to a high standing. Mr. Buhler is undecided what he will do.

M. E. SERVICES HELPFUL.

Good Crowds, Good Singing, Thoughtful Preaching Every Night at Church.

The services at the First M. E. church last night were very helpful. It is hard to see how anyone could listen to the sermon, songs and testimonials and not be strengthened in his spiritual life. If you want a deeper Christian experience, come let us help you. If you have never known Christ as a personal Savior, now is the time to think about accepting Him.

Rev. Zentz took as his text I Cor. 1-17, "Let the cross of Christ be made of none effect." He said in part:

"As there are certain outstanding events in the history of every people, so in the history of God's dealing with His people is the cross of Christ. It has powerfully affected history, has had its influence on art, literature, science and philosophy. Men who were radically wrong when they came in contact with the cross have had the whole purpose of their lives changed. The power of the cross no one will deny. But now, as in the time of Saint Paul, there is some danger of the cross not being as powerful as it ought to be. Among the reasons for this are the failure to understand what the cross should mean in individual life; the internal strife that sometimes arises, the indifference so often characteristic of many people and the failure to take up the cross in a practical way. Then, too, there are many who deliberately shut up their lives to all influences of the cross; they will not come to Him that they may be saved." Services again tonight at 7:30. You are cordially invited.

Mrs. J. A. Carmichael, living east of Maryville, and her daughter, Mrs. J. Q. Williams of Mound City, who is visiting her, spent Sunday in Bolckow with Mrs. Carmichael's sister, Mrs. J. T. Hanna, and Rev. Hanna.

Charles Snapp went to Kansas City Monday evening, where he is employed.

WORK ON CAMPUS

BOARD OF REGENTS WILL TAKE UP IMPROVEMENT.

FIVE GOT CERTIFICATES

Two Life and Three Regents' Certificates Approved at Board Session—Next Meeting in May.

Only routine matters and a discussion of the affairs of the Normal occupied the time of the Normal board of regents, which met Monday in this city at the Normal building. The meeting was held in the afternoon. The out-of-town members of the board, State Superintendent Evans, J. B. O'Brien, Leo Phipps and W. G. Hine returned to their homes Tuesday morning.

The annual meeting of the board will be held at the close of the spring quarter in May. At that time the board will re-organize and select the teachers for the school and take up other matters.

At the meeting Monday the board approved the diplomas of several who had finished the required work at the end of the winter quarter. Two life diplomas were approved and three two-year regents' certificates issued. The life diplomas were to Miss Ruth Ramsey of Arkoe and Miss Nora Neal of Clearmont. The regents' certificate went to Miss Inez Rea of Hopkins, Miss Gladys Ewell of Carrollton and Miss Emma Kernen of Cowgill.

The board discussed the improvements to be made on the campus this spring and it was decided to send for H. F. Major of Columbia to come here and lay out the plans for the improvements. The board decided to leave the matter with Messrs. Blagg and Hine as to the extent of the improvements.

DIED IN NEBRASKA.

Mont Guynn, Who Formerly Lived Near Wilcox, Died March 1 at North Star, Neb.

Mrs. J. J. Knabb, living north of Maryville, has just returned from North Star, Nebraska county, where she was called a few weeks ago by the death of her brother-in-law, Mont Powhattan Guynn, who lived the greater part of his life on a farm near Wilcox, and was married to a Nodaway county girl. He was born August 6, 1871. On the 5th day of February, 1896, he married Miss Effie J. Stark at Maryville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stark, who now live in Montana. The News-Journal of Fullerton, Neb., contained the following notice in regard to Mr. Guynn's death:

"In the spring of 1904 Mr. Guynn and his family came to Nance county, Neb., to live, living near Belgrade for a short while, but the greater part of the time near North Star, where as farmer, merchant and neighbor he won the respect and esteem of the entire community. When a young man he united with the Christian church at Maryville, but later transferred his membership to the Fairview United Evangelical church, where he remained a member until his death. His wife and four children surviving sorrow in the loss of a loving, kind and affectionate husband and father, and the community at large in the loss of a true friend and neighbor. The W. O. W. camp of Fullerton had charge of the funeral. Services were held at the North Star U. B. church, Rev. McBride delivering the address. The burial service conducted by the W. O. W. was both emblematic and impressive."

ROSEBERRY BUILDING SOLD.

Walter Mutz Purchased the Three-Story Building Located at Corner of Third Main.

G. B. Roseberry sold Monday his three-story building in this city to Walter Mutz, who took possession at once. The consideration, it is said, was $27,500. The deal was made through the real estate firm of Holmes & Wolfert.

A few weeks ago Mr. Mutz purchased the J. B. Newman building, on the north side of the square. This building is where Mr. Nussbaum is located. This deal was also made through Holmes & Wolfert.

SCHOOL HAS BEEN APPROVED.

Dawson School at Dawson Received Approval of State Superintendent Evans.

County Superintendent Oakerson received Tuesday morning the certificate of approval for Dawson school, district No. 42, from the state superintendent of schools, W. P. Evans. The school met all the requirements that were necessary. Miss Clara Davenport is the teacher of the school.

SENT $107 FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS.

Secretary John I. Hoffman Telegraphed That Amount to Dayton, O.

Secretary Hoffman of the Commercial club telegraphed $107 to the Red Cross society at Dayton, O., for the benefit of the flood sufferers in that city and in that district. The money was raised within the past few days. The benefit show given at the Empire theater Monday night was well attended and the entire proceeds amounted to $70.65, all of which was turned over to the fund. Many of the people who attended the show gave quarters, half dollars and dollars and did not ask for their change.

The other contributors to the fund since Monday were George W. Null $1, R. F. Hamblen $5, Mrs. A. R. Robinson $1, and Fred French 50 cents. The postoffice employees, through Mr. French gave $7.75.

In addition to the Commercial club donations, the Buchanan Street church raised $21 Sunday, which amount they will send back for the people who are in need.

NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED.

Mrs. Gallatin Craig Has Letter From Albert Craig Telling Something of Flood Conditions in Indiana.

Mr. Albert Craig, who is attending Purdue university at West Lafayette, Ind., has written his mother, Mrs. Gallatin Craig of this city, assuring her that the newspaper reports regarding the floods in the section in which he is have been considerably overdrawn. He says everyone had plenty to eat, and that although the water supply was cut off for three days, there was plenty for use during that time. One of the university students was drowned. He was in company with another student in a small canoe making an attempt to save three men that were trying to cross on the bridge that went down over the Wabash river, which flows between Lafayette and West Lafayette, Ind. The waters were too high and rough for the canoe, and one of the students was drowned, but the other was rescued with the three men.

It will be several months before the street cars will be running between the two towns, but a good temporary passageway has already been erected and passenger traffic is being carried on for a small fee.

The electric light system for the two towns are still out of commission, but it is thought that inconvenience will be righted before long.

The bridge that went down between the towns was badly undermined, anyway, and its downfall at this time may be a blessing in disguise.

NORMAL BASE BALL TEAM.

Twenty Men Are Trying Out For Places on the Team.

About twenty men responded to Coach Moore's first call for candidates for the base ball team at the Normal Monday afternoon. Of this number but five were members of last year's squad. These men are McKee, catcher; Wilson, pitcher and captain; Perrin, first base; Vandersloot, shortstop, and McDougal, utility. The infield was in bad shape Monday night and it was hard for the coach to get a line on the new infielders, but it looks as though Bird at third and Brittain at second, who are both new men, will be covering those positions when the gong sounds for the opening game. Dotts also looks good in the outfield, and "Buzz" Daise, a star performer for the green and white on the basket ball court the past season, shows no little amount of ability in pulling down long flies.

G. "Buck" Holmes, a local boy, will make somebody hustle for a position in the outer garden. Another good pitcher to relieve "Cap" Wilson occasionally would make a well balanced team. Long, a new man, has shown some ability to leave the "pill" across and he may develop into a good twirler with a little more training. John McDougal, who played the utility role last season, has some aspirations to become a pitcher. "Mac" is a south-paw, and has considerable speed and a fair assortment of curves, but lacks control.

Final arrangements have not been made for the opening game for the teachers, but they will play either Conception college or the St. Joseph Business university here a week from Friday or Saturday. The details of the game will be given out the last of this week.

The local schedule will include games with Tarkio, Amity, Concept on college, Peru, Neb., Normal, and possibly Creighton university of Omaha.

Miss Myra Hope, principal of the school at Corns Mo., visited over Saturday and Sunday in the city with her mother, Mrs. Thana Hope, and family.

LIGHT VOTE CAST

Candidates For Alderman and School Director Are Being Elected Unanimously—Levy Will Carry.

A very light vote is being polled at the city and school election being held today. There is no opposition to the candidates for alderman as named Friday evening, and there is no opposition to the two members of the school board and the usual school levy. The two members of the school board selected Monday night were James B. Robinson and J. R. Brink, succeeding themselves.

The total vote cast at 2 o'clock this afternoon follows:

First ward 27
Second ward 32
Third ward 29
Fourth ward 60

The election today is probably the quietest election ever held in the city. The candidates for alderman are Mose Hahn, First ward; J. D. Ford, Second; John Gray, Third; Louis Gram, Fourth.

MEETINGS CLOSED AT CLEARMONT

Twenty-Six Additions to Christian Church at That Place—Rev. Snodgrass to Bedison Next Week.

Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, the Christian church evangelist who has been holding a meeting at Clearmont the past three weeks, closed his work there last night. There were twenty-six additions to the church and the spiritual uplift to the entire church and congregation is indeed gratifying.

Rev. Snodgrass is ably assisted in his work by Mrs. Snodgrass, who is an effective soloist and personal worker. They will go to Bedison this coming Sunday, April 6, to begin a series of meetings for the pastor, Rev. Abner Johnson. Mr. Johnson will not be able to attend the meetings only at each week end, owing to his school work here. The Bedison pastor and his people have made good preparation for the coming meeting and good results are expected. A piano has been secured for use during the meetings. The membership of this church is about forty-five, and it is a good working membership.

THINK HEIRS ARE HERE.

An Estate Valued at $60,000 and No Heirs Found—the Bradys Are Related.

W. R. Tilson received a letter Tuesday from Mrs. Ida Jobe Thompson of 526 Court street, Los Angeles, Cal., who was formerly a Barnard resident, bearing the daughter of William Jobe of that community, informing him that an estate valued at $60,000 was left by a William Brady at Los Angeles, and that it is probable that some heirs of the estate are in Nodaway county. She writes to find out if any of the Bradys are living near Clyde and Maryville, as they might be heirs of the estate. The latter goes on to say that the public administrator hasn't been able to find any heirs, and the estate will soon go to the public school fund if no heirs are found.

The estate consists of cash and securities.

BIG RETURNS FROM GARDEN.

Supplies for Entire Family Obtained
From Limited Space.

It is astonishing the amount of garden produce one may raise on a small patch of ground. Last year from a plot 75x132 feet a family of four were supplied with fresh vegetables all summer. Beside using all the early potatoes needed, thirty-nine bushels were put into the cellar together with enough onions, carrots, parsnips, salsify and cabbage to supply the family for the winter, writes an authority in Farm and Home.

Six 50-foot rows of sweet corn furnished all we could use and can. Five 50-foot rows of popcorn produced two and a half bushels. One 50-foot row of string beans by carefully picking, that none got too old, provided the family with these, beside enough to pickle and can twenty-eight quarts. Not a pod was wasted. One 50-foot row of beets sufficed for summer pickles, canning twenty-five quarts, and as much more to give away. Thirty tomato plants furnished enough for use fresh and the winter's supply of canned tomatoes, beside selling two bushels.

From thirty currant bushes ten gooseberry bushes, and three 50-foot rows of red raspberries, many quarts of fruit were used fresh, seventy-five quarts canned and enough sold to buy the remaining fruit needed for the rest of the canning. A bed of asparagus and of pieplant is found at the end of the garden.

How was it done? The ground is kept well fertilized, well worked, and a complete rotation of crops is practiced. Every foot of ground is used. Small vegetables like radishes, lettuce, onions, etc., are planted fourteen inches apart. The first little rows of radishes are planted between the currant bushes as the early cultivation helps the bushes. The two succeeding crops of radishes were put in wherever any seeds failed to come up, so we do not lose the use of any ground. Plant squashes in with the corn, leaving four hills square between the squash hills. Plant no more of anything than you will use, and can what cannot be used fresh, letting nothing go to waste.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by the Orear-Henry Drug Co.—Advertisement.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Death of J. Pierpont Morgan, America's Great Financier

Passing of Aged Banker, Foremost Financial Genius of His Generation, Recalls His Epoch Making Career—The Leading Apostle of Concentration of Capital and More Powerful Than Kings

JOHN PIERPONT MORGAN, foremost financial genius of his generation, is dead. Even as this is being printed the news is still flashing to every far corner of the earth by telegraph, wireless and cable that the giant central figure of modern American finance has paid the last debt of nature.

When a king died in ancient times there arose at once the cry: "The king is dead! Long live the king!" Morgan the king is dead, but who may take his kingship? That is the question which fingers now on the lips of the mighty, nor finds an answer.

For John Pierpont Morgan, by reason of the magic that lies in the control of many millions, by reason of the vast industrial empire of which he was monarch supreme, was in actual fact more powerful than any ruler of the world today. Moreover, to that degree also his passing has in it possibilities which may make or mar history as the death of no living king or emperor could do.

The death of the greatest financier of this or any previous generation will give the biographer and the historian a wide field for study and research. The Morgan that the public has known is gone forever. The Morgan that actually was will be judged by posterity purely upon the good or evil that he wrought.

It was once written of him that he

The future financier attended school in his birthplace until fourteen years of age, when the family moved to Boston, his father to enter a prosperous mercantile firm there, while young Morgan became a pupil at the Boston English Grammar school. As a student, it is said, he made slight impression on his instructors, and when, a year or so later, his father determined to send him abroad to study there was little indication of the future mark he would make for himself in the world.

After a brief visit at Fayal, in the Azores, the boy was sent to Fellg's school at Vevay, Switzerland, where he spent a year, afterward entering the University of Göttingen, in Germany. Here he remained two years.

In the meantime the elder Morgan's business had so prospered in Boston that he was enabled to sell out his share of the mercantile business in which he had until then been engaged and purchase a partnership in the great London banking house of Peabody & Co. And here young Morgan came when he had completed his studies at the university to lay the foundations of his future knowledge of the banking business.

Father a Rich Man.

Unlike many other American boys, he was not compelled to hew his destiny out of the rock of circumstance. Junius Morgan was already a very

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

"never wrecked a property nor depressed values that gain might follow. His work was always to reconstruct, to repair, to build up." And this may be the public's final judgment of the man.

His Genius Was Constructive.

Those who saw the veteran banker when he appeared before the Pujo congressional investigating committee in Washington will recall the vivid impression that he made when for five hours he put himself at the mercy of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, answering unhesitatingly every question which that keen, adroit and resourceful lawyer chose to put to him.

Instead of striving to avoid or evade the queries hurled at him in rapid succession, as so many of the magnates who had preceded him on the witness stand had done, he was the personification of frankness itself. Actually he seemed to be trying to outstrip the lawyer's desire for information by telling more than he was asked.

At that time his eye seemed as keen as ever it had been, his voice as strong and resonant, but for all that there were little signs here and there, trivial, but none the less apparent, which indicated that even his iron constitution and rugged mind had begun to show the marks of the years.

Dominant Financial Figure.

While unquestionably the dominant figure in the financial worlds of both Europe and the United States for nearly a score of years, Morgan was typically an American, the product of American institutions and the opportunities fostered by them. So also were his ideas and ideals sprung from the country that gave him birth.

John Pierpont Morgan was born in Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837. His parents were Junius Spencer Morgan, a business man of that city, and Juliet Pierpont, a daughter of the Rev. John Pierpont, the poet, after whom he was named.

wealthy man, as wealth went in those days, when he launched his son in business, and he grew wealthier still as the years rolled on. So it was that young Pierpont from the first stood at a certain height above the crowd, possessing from the beginning all the advantages and prestige of a successful banker's idolized son.

It was with the powerful backing of his father that he first went to New York to enter business there. It was the panic year of 1857. Hundreds of failures occurred within a few weeks. Young Morgan, a clerk in the firm of Duncanson, Sherman & Co., studied the problems he saw around him—studied and asked questions. He wanted answers to his questions, but he never criticized. He kept his conclusions to himself.

In 1859 the coming master of millions entered business on his own account, first under the name of J. P. Morgan & Co. and later as Dabney, Morgan & Co. the latter firm not being dissolved until 1871, when Morgan allied himself with the Drexel banking house. In the former year also he married Miss Amelia Sturgis, even then dying of consumption, who lived only a few months after the wedding.

From that time until after the close of the civil war not much was heard of Morgan outside his immediate circle in Wall street. He was industrious, prosperous, invincibly energetic, yet fully content to turn the full stream of his energies into ordinary business channels.

In 1895 he married again, his second wife being Miss Frances Louise Tracy, daughter of Charles Tracy, a New York lawyer. Morgan was then twenty-eight years old.

His Advent in Railway World.

Up to that time the railway mania had not struck the country. In the following year began the spectacular exploitation and wrecking of railroads, which resulted in the making of a number of millionaires almost overnight, but it was not until 1869 that Morgan first entered this field.

The achievement that first attracted attention to him as a man of original capacity for dealing with very difficult railway problems and in such fashion as to save railway properties from the predatory hands which for some years after the close of the civil war sought swiftly to gain fortunes by the ruthless wrecking of railroads was the sensational Albany and Susquehanna railway fight for control.

The story of that battle is far too long to be set down here. Enough it is to say that it was one of the most spectacular that Wall street and New York state have ever witnessed, in which a legislature and a judiciary on the one side and New York's thugs and criminal element on the other were used merely as pawns in the game of high finance.

For the first time Morgan was pitted against the dreaded Jay Gould, then one of the most sinister powers in the financial district. And for the first time Gould found that he had met his master.

Immediately after the reorganization of the Albany and Susquehanna in 1871 the firm of Dabney, Morgan & Co. dissolved. Morgan to take the partnership in the Drexel banking house, already mentioned, under the name of Drexel, Morgan & Co.

Allied With Vanderbilts.

Out of his vanquishing of Jay Gould grew this powerful alliance. So also did it gain Morgan the friendship and backing of William H. Vanderbilt, then the greatest antagonist of Gould in the railroad and financial field.

Meanwhile the elder Morgan had died, leaving his son something in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 and the control of the great English banking house, formerly Peabody & Co., but then and for years before J. S. Morgan & Co. Added to his own fortune, it enabled Morgan to branch out into fields hitherto forbidden him.

It was not, however, until 1878 that Morgan actually gained entrance to the first rank of the country's financiers. The country was still suffering from the terrible panic of five years before. Specie payments had not yet been resumed. For months the government had sought to market an issue of 4 per cent bonds, but the slowness of the public to take them up promised no speedy relief to the situation.

Then in November of that year, under Morgan's direction, the Morgan, Belmont-Rothschild syndicate was formed to take up a large part of the issue. Within a period of four months, from November to April, the syndicate had disposed of $200,000,000 of the bonds.

The taking over of these bonds and the marketing of them at a great profit—Drexel, Morgan & Co. netting $5,000,000 as their share—in a period of such great financial depression at once placed Morgan in the front rank of American financiers. From that time on his advance toward his future proportions was rapid.

In 1885, acting as the agent of William K. Vanderbilt, Morgan effected the lease in perpetuity of the West Shore railroad to the New York Central, which ended a battle that had continued for years and which threatened to throw both roads into bankruptcy.

Became Financial King.

It would take a library to tell of the great banker's achievements between 1885 and the present time. Railroads and industrial corporations came to him by the dozens and scores for expert counsel. And they all got it if they were ready to pay the price.

By 1900, despite occasional setbacks, Morgan was clearly the strongest individual financier alive. The combinations that he had fathered represented billions and billions of dollars.

In 1895, when, with August Belmont and others, he helped found the Cleveland bond issue, he was asked by the secretary of the treasury, John G. Carlisle, for security, he produced endorsements representing $500,000,000.

The formation of the billion dollar United States steel trust and the International Mercantile Marine, the latter perhaps his single serious failure, in 1901 and 1902 is sufficient to show how far he had progressed in that time.

Morgan was a man of marked characteristics. Aggressive in character and action, his very boldness in smashing down obstacles, coupled with a knowledge of how to apply money and power where they would produce most results, undoubtedly had much to do with his success.

TYPHOON IN PHILIPPINES.

Theresa Kalb Rath Gives Graphic Description in Ohio Paper.

The Daily Examiner of Bellefontaine, O., of recent date contains a letter from Mrs. Charles Rath of Tacloban, Leyte, Philippine Islands, giving a graphic account of a typhoon that swept the coast of Leyte about two months ago.

Mrs. Rath, who will be well remembered in Maryville as Miss Theresa Kalb, instructor in English in the Maryville seminary, is engaged with her husband, in Presbyterian missionary work in the Philippines, while her sister, who visited her there, is a missionary in Africa.

Mrs. Rath and her husband narrowly escaped being swept into the sea, only two blocks from their home, when they left their residence in the midst of the storm to go to the high school building, a ten minutes' walk, for a place of safety. The walls of their own home were swaying back and forth with such regularity after two of the kitchen and bath room walls had gone down, that Mrs. Rath could not stand it longer and left the house for a bigger, stronger building, her husband following. They found things worse away from home, the high school building being down, having withstood the typhoon once each year for five years. They returned home in the dead calm that followed the terrible storm to get ready for its return in about twenty minutes. Quite a number of people had sought refuge in their home, as it was still standing, though badly wrecked, and everyone went to work to strengthen the windows, doors and walls. They went safely through the typhoon's return, although they and all they had was soaked with water, and it would require two weeks' work to repair their home.

Mrs. Rath's letter was written to her uncle, J. V. Stevenson of Bellefontaine. Her father, Albert Kalb, lives at Fort Stockton, Texas.

Death of Colored Woman.

Lula Collier, colored, aged about 27 years, died Monday morning at the home of her mother Mrs. Fannie Baker Martin, 2510 Bartlett street, St. Joseph. The body was brought to Maryville Tuesday noon and taken to the home of Mrs. Mary Stewart. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the African M. E. church. Burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

WHITE WAY JUNE 1

WORK TO START NEXT WEEK ON FOUNDATIONS FOR POLES.

WIRES TO GO TO ALLEYS

Unightly Poles to Come Down On Business Streets in Which White Way Will Be Placed.

Work will start within the next week on the foundation for the white way poles, and if all the material, such as poles, the cable and the lights are shipped as soon as they agreed to send them, the white way will be completed here by June 1. Some little difficulty is being had on shipping the material, owing to the Ohio floods tying up all of the eastern railroads in that state. The material will come from the east.

The Electric Light company is now at work changing their wires from the poles in the streets of the business section of the city to the poles in the alleys. As soon as the work is finished of changing the wires the light company will then take down their poles on these streets, where the white way will be. The poles of the telephone company will also be taken down and the Commercial club has requested the Western Union company to do so, making the business section more attractive without the poles. The wires to the buildings are being put through a conduit on the front of the buildings.

A regulator for general street lighting has been ordered and will be here soon. The present arcs are to be replaced by 80 c. p. mazda lights. There will be 170 of these lights. In the white way there will be seventy-two poles of five lights each.

BUYS HIS INTEREST.

L. S. Byers Buys Out His Partner,
Charles Buhler, in Grocery Store.

A change was made Monday in the Byers & Buhler grocery store. L. S. Byers buying out the interest of his partner, Charles Buhler. Possession was given Monday. The new store will be known as the Byers grocery store and L. S. Byers will have full control.

Mr. Byers has been in the grocery business in Maryville for twenty years. He was first employed in the grocery store of J. B. Cox, then W. B. Frost, William Wright, Sayler & Bartlett, then went in business under the firm name of Byers & Eckles. For the past ten years Mr. Byers and Mr. Buhler have been partners. Mr. Byers is an experienced groceryman and will keep his store up to a high standing. Mr. Buhler is undecided what he will do.

M. E. SERVICES HELPFUL.

Good Crowds, Good Singing, Thoughtful Preaching Every Night at Church.

The services at the First M. E. church last night were very helpful. It is hard to see how anyone could listen to the sermon, songs and testimonials and not be strengthened in his spiritual life. If you want a deeper Christian experience, come let us help you. If you have never known Christ as a personal Savior, now is the time to think about accepting Him.

Rev. Zentz took as his text I Cor. 1-17, "Let the cross of Christ be made of none effect." He said in part:

"As there are certain outstanding events in the history of every people, so in the history of God's dealing with His people is the cross of Christ. It has powerfully affected history, has had its influence on art, literature, science and philosophy. Men who were radically wrong when they came in contact with the cross have had the whole purpose of their lives changed. The power of the cross no one will deny. But now, as in the time of Saint Paul, there is some danger of the cross not being as powerful as it ought to be. Among the reasons for this are the failure to understand what the cross should mean in individual life; the internal strife that sometimes arises, the indifference so often characteristic of many people and the failure to take up the cross in a practical way. Then, too, there are many who deliberately shut up their lives to all influences of the cross; they will not come to Him that they may be saved." Services again tonight at 7:30. You are cordially invited.

Mrs. J. A. Carmichael, living east of Maryville, and her daughter, Mrs. J. Q. Williams of Mound City, who is visiting her, spent Sunday in Bolckow with Mrs. Carmichael's sister, Mrs. J. T. Hanna, and Rev. Hanna.

Charles Snapp went to Kansas City Monday evening, where he is employed.

WORK ON CAMPUS

BOARD OF REGENTS WILL TAKE UP IMPROVEMENT.

FIVE GOT CERTIFICATES

Two Life and Three Regents' Certificates Approved at Board Session—
Next Meeting in May.

Only routine matters and a discussion of the affairs of the Normal occupied the time of the Normal board of regents, which met Monday in this city at the Normal building. The meeting was held in the afternoon. The out-of-town members of the board, State Superintendent Evans, J. B. O'Brien, Leo Phipps and W. G. Hine returned to their homes Tuesday morning.

The annual meeting of the board will be held at the close of the spring quarter in May. At that time the board will re-organize and select the teachers for the school and take up other matters.

At the meeting Monday the board approved the diplomas of several who had finished the required work at the end of the winter quarter. Two life diplomas were approved and three two-year regents' certificates issued. The life diplomas were to Miss Ruth Ramsey of Arkoe and Miss Nora Neal of Clearmont. The regents' certificate went to Miss Inez Rea of Hopkins. Miss Gladys Ewell of Carrollton and Miss Emma Kernen of Cowgill.

The board discussed the improvements to be made on the campus this spring and it was decided to send for H. F. Major of Columbia to come here and lay out the plans for the improvements. The board decided to leave the matter with Messrs. Blagg and Hine as to the extent of the improvements.

DIED IN NEBRASKA.

Mont Gynnn, Who Formerly Lived
Near Wilcox, Died March 1 at North Star, Neb.

Mrs. J. J. Knabb, living north of Maryville, has just returned from North Star, Nance county, Neb., where she was called a few weeks ago by the death of her brother-in-law, Mont Powhattan Gynnn, who lived the greater part of his life on a farm near Wilcox, and was married to a Nodaway county girl. He was born August 6, 1871. On the 5th day of February, 1896, he married Miss Effie J. Stark at Maryville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stark, who now live in Montana. The News-Journal of Fullerton, Neb., contained the following notice in regard to Mr. Gynnn's death:

"In the spring of 1904 Mr. Gynnn and his family came to Nance county, Neb., to live, living near Belgrade for a short while, but the greater part of the time near North Star, where as farmer, merchant and neighbor he won the respect and esteem of the entire community. When a young man he united with the Christian church at Maryville, but later transferred his membership to the Fairview United Evangelical church, where he remained a member until his death. His wife and four children surviving sorrow in the loss of a loving, kind and affectionate husband and father, and the community at large in the loss of a true friend and neighbor. The W. O. W. camp of Fullerton had charge of the funeral. Services were held at the North Star U. B. church, Rev. McBride delivering the address. The burial service conducted by the W. O. W. was both emblematic and impressive."

ROSEBERRY BUILDING SOLD.

Walter Mutz Purchased the Three-
Story Building Located at Corner of Third Main.

G. B. Roseberry sold Monday his three-story building in this city to Walter Mutz, who took possession at once. The consideration, it is said, was $27,500. The deal was made through the real estate firm of Holmes & Wolfert.

A few weeks ago Mr. Mutz purchased the J. B. Newman building, on the north side of the square. This building is where Mr. Nussbaum is located. This deal was also made through Holmes & Wolfert.

SCHOOL HAS BEEN APPROVED.

Dawson School at Dawson Received
Approval of State Superintendent
Evans.

County Superintendent Oakerson received Tuesday morning the certificate of approval for Dawson school, district No. 42, from the state superintendent of schools, W. P. Evans. The school met all the requirements that were necessary. Miss Clara Davenport is the teacher of the school.

SENT $107 FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS.

Secretary John I. Hoffman Telegraphed That Amount to Dayton, O.

Secretary Hoffman of the Commercial club telegraphed $107 to the Red Cross society at Dayton, O., for the benefit of the flood sufferers in that city and in that district. The money was raised within the past few days. The benefit show given at the Empire theater Monday night was well attended and the entire proceeds amounted to $70.65, all of which was turned over to the fund. Many of the people who attended the show gave quarters, half dollars and dollars and did not ask for their change.

The other contributors to the fund since Monday were George W. Null $1, R. F. Hamblen $5, Mrs. A. R. Robinson $1, and Fred French 50 cents. The postoffice employees, through Mr. French gave $7.75.

In addition to the Commercial club donations, the Buchanan Street church raised $21 Sunday, which amount they will send back for the people who are in need.

NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED.

Mrs. Gallatin Craig Has Letter From Albert Craig Telling Something of Flood Conditions in Indiana.

Mr. Albert Craig, who is attending Purdue university at West Lafayette, Ind., has written his mother, Mrs. Gallatin Craig of this city, assuring her that the newspaper reports regarding the floods in the section in which he is have been considerably overdrawn. He says everyone had plenty to eat, and that although the water supply was cut off for three days, there was plenty for use during that time. One of the university students was drowned. He was in company with another student in a small canoe making an attempt to save three men that were trying to cross on the bridge that went down over the Wabash river, which flows between Lafayette and West Lafayette, Ind. The waters were too high and rough for the canoe, and one of the students was drowned, but the other was rescued with the three men.

It will be several months before the street cars will be running between the two towns, but a good temporary passageway has already been erected and passenger traffic is being carried on for a small fee.

The electric light system for the two towns are still out of commission, but it is thought that inconvenience will be righted before long.

The bridge that went down between the towns was badly undermined, anyway, and its downfall at this time may be a blessing in disguise.

NORMAL BASE BALL TEAM.

Twenty Men Are Trying Out For Places on the Team.

About twenty men responded to Coach Moore's first call for candidates for the base ball team at the Normal Monday afternoon. Of this number but five were members of last year's squad. These men are McKee, catcher; Wilson, pitcher and captain; Perrin, first base; Vandersloot, shortstop, and McDougal, utility. The infield was in bad shape Monday night and it was hard for the coach to get a line on the new infielders, but it looks as though Bird at third and Brittain at second, who are both new men, will be covering those positions when the gong sounds for the opening game. Dotts also looks good in the outfield, and "Buzz" Daise, a star performer for the green and white on the basket ball court the past season, shows no little amount of ability in pulling down long flies. G. "Buck" Holmes, a local boy, will make somebody hustle for a position in the outer garden. Another good pitcher to relieve "Cap" Wilson occasionally would make a well balanced team. Long, a new man, has shown some ability to heave the "pill" across and he may develop into a good twirler with a little more training. John McDougal, who played the utility role last season, has some aspirations to become a pitcher. "Mac" is a south-paw, and has considerable speed and a fair assortment of curves, but lacks control.

Final arrangements have not been made for the opening game for the teachers, but they will play either Conception college or the St. Joseph Business university here a week from Friday or Saturday. The details of the game will be given out the last of this week.

The local schedule will include games with Tarkio, Amity, Concept on college, Peru, Neb., Normal, and possibly Creighton university of Omaha.

Miss Myra Hope, principal of the school at Corning Mo., visited over Saturday and Sunday in the city with her mother, Mrs. Thana Hope, and family.

mously—Levy Will Carry.

A very light vote is being polled at the city and school election being held today. There is no opposition to the candidates for alderman as named Friday evening, and there is no opposition to the two members of the school board and the usual school levy. The two members of the school board selected Monday night were James B. Robinson and J. R. Brink, succeeding themselves.

The total vote cast at 2 o'clock this afternoon follows:

First ward 27
Second ward 32

The election today is probably the quietest election ever held in the city. The candidates for alderman are Mose Hahn, First ward; J. D. Ford, Second; John Gray, Third; Louis Gram, Fourth.

MEETINGS CLOSED AT CLEARMONT

Twenty-Six Additions to Christian Church at That Place—Rev. Snodgrass to Bedison Next Week.

Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, the Christian church evangelist who has been holding a meeting at Clearmont the past three weeks, closed his work there last night. There were twenty-six additions to the church and the spiritual uplift to the entire church and congregation is indeed gratifying.

Rev. Snodgrass is ably assisted in his work by Mrs. Snodgrass, who is an effective soloist and personal worker. They will go to Bedison this coming Sunday, April 6, to begin a series of meetings for the pastor, Rev. Abner Johnson. Mr. Johnson will not be able to attend the meetings only at each week end, owing to his school work here. The Bedison pastor and his people have made good preparations for the coming meeting and good results are expected. A piano has been secured for use during the meetings. The membership of this church is about forty-five, and it is a good working membership.

THINK HEIRS ARE HERE.

An Estate Valued at $60,000 and No
Heirs Found—The Bradys
Are Related.

W. R. Tilson received a letter Tuesday from Mrs. Ida Jobe Thompson of 526 Court street, Los Angeles, Cal., who was formerly a Barnard resident, being the daughter of William Jobe of that community, informing him that an estate valued at $60,000 was left by a William Brady at Los Angeles, and that it is probable that some heirs of the estate are in Nodaway county. She writes to find out if any of the Bradys are living near Clyde and Maryville, as they might be heirs of the estate. The latter goes on to say that the public administrator hasn't been able to find any heirs, and the estate will soon go to the public school fund if no heirs are found.

The estate consists of cash and securities.

BIG RETURNS FROM GARDEN.

Supplies for Entire Family Obtained
From Limited Space.

It is astonishing the amount of garden produce one may raise on a small patch of ground. Last year from a plot 75x132 feet a family of four were supplied with fresh vegetables all summer. Beside using all the early potatoes needed, thirty-nine bushels were put into the cellar together with enough onions, carrots, parsnips, salify and cabbage to supply the family for the winter, writes an authority in Farm and Home.

Six 50-foot rows of sweet corn furnished all we could use and can. Five 50-foot rows of popcorn produced two and a half bushels. One 50-foot row of string beans by carefully picking, that none got too old, provided the family with these, beside enough to pickle and can twenty-eight quarts. Not a pod was wasted. One 50-foot row of beets sufficed for summer pickles, canning twenty-five quarts, and as much more to give away. Thirty tomato plants furnished enough for use fresh and the winter's supply of canned tomatoes, beside selling two bushels.

From thirty currant bushes ten gooseberry bushes, and three 50-foot rows of red raspberries, many quarts of fruit were used fresh, seventy-five quarts canned and enough sold to buy the remaining fruit needed for the rest of the canning. A bed of asparagus and of plant is found at the end of the garden.

How was it done? The ground is kept well fertilized, well worked, and a complete rotation of crops is practiced. Every foot of ground is used. Small vegetables like radishes, lettuce, onions, etc., are planted fourteen inches apart. The first little rows of radishes are planted between the currant bushes as the early cultivation helps the bushes. The two succeeding crops of radishes were put in wherever any seeds failed to come up, so we do not lose the use of any ground. Plant squashes in with the corn, leaving four hills square between the squash hills. Plant no more of anything than you will use, and can what cannot be used fresh, letting nothing go to waste.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by the Orear-Henry Drug Co.—Advertisement.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Death of J. Pierpont Morgan, America's Great Financier

Passing of Aged Banker, Foremost Financial Genius of His Generation, Recalls His Epoch Making Career—The Leading Apostle of Concentration of Capital and More Powerful Than Kings

JOHN PIERPONT MORGAN, foremost financial genius of his generation, is dead. Even as this is being printed the news is still dashing to every far corner of the earth by telegraph, wireless and cable that the giant central figure of modern American finance has paid the last debt of nature.

When a king died in ancient times there arose at once the cry: "The king is dead! Long live the king!" Morgan the king is dead, but who may take his kingship? That is the question which fingers now on the lips of the mighty, nor finds an answer.

For John Pierpont Morgan, by reason of the magic that lies in the control of many millions, by reason of the vast industrial empire of which he was monarch supreme, was in actual fact more powerful than any ruler of the world today. Moreover, to that degree also his passing has in it possibilities which may make or mar history as the death of no living king or emperor could do.

The death of the greatest financier of this or any previous generation will give the biographer and the historian a wide field for study and research. The Morgan that the public has known is gone forever. The Morgan that actually was will be judged by posterity purely upon the good or evil that he wrought.

It was once written of him that he

The future financier attended school in his birthplace until fourteen years of age, when the family moved to Boston, his father to enter a prosperous mercantile firm there, while young Morgan became a pupil at the Boston English Grammar school. As a student, it is said, he made slight impression on his instructors, and when, a year or so later, his father determined to send him abroad to study there was little indication of the future mark he would make for himself in the world.

After a brief visit at Fayal, in the Azores, the boy was sent to Felling's school at Vevay, Switzerland, where he spent a year, afterward entering the University of Gottingen, in Germany. Here he remained two years.

In the meantime the elder Morgan's business had so prospered in Boston that he was enabled to sell out his share of the mercantile business in which he had until then been engaged and purchase a partnership in the great London banking house of Peabody & Co. And here young Morgan came when he had completed his studies at the university to lay the foundations of his future knowledge of the banking business.

Unlike many other American boys, he was not compelled to hew his destiny out of the rock of circumstance. Junius Morgan was already a very

"never wrecked a property nor depressed values that gain might follow. His work was always to reconstruct, to repair, to build up." And this may be the public's final judgment of the man.

His Genius Was Constructive.

Those who saw the veteran banker when he appeared before the Pujo congressional investigating committee in Washington will recall the vivid impression that he made when for five hours he put himself at the mercy of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, answering unhesitatingly every question which that keen, adroit and resourceful lawyer chose to put to him.

Instead of striving to avoid or evade the queries hurled at him in rapid succession, as so many of the magnates who had preceded him on the witness stand had done, he was the personification of frankness itself. Actually he seemed to be trying to outstrip the lawyer's desire for information by telling more than he was asked.

At that time his eye seemed as keen as ever it had been, his voice as strong and resonant, but for all that there were little signs here and there, trivial, but none the less apparent, which indicated that even his iron constitution and rugged mind had begun to show the marks of the years.

Dominant Financial Figure.

While unquestionably the dominant figure in the financial worlds of both Europe and the United States for nearly a score of years, Morgan was typically an American, the product of American institutions and the opportunities fostered by them. So also were his ideas and ideals sprung from the country that gave him birth.

John Pierpont Morgan was born in Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837. His parents were Junius Spencer Morgan, a business man of that city, and Juliet Pierpont, a daughter of the Rev. John Pierpont, the poet, after whom he was named.

night, but it was not until 1869 that Morgan first entered this field.

The achievement that first attracted attention to him as a man of original capacity for dealing with very difficult railway problems and in such fashion as to save railway properties from the predatory hands which for some years after the close of the civil war sought swiftly to gain fortunes by the ruthless wrecking of railroads was the sensational Albany and Susquehanna railway fight for control.

The story of that battle is far too long to be set down here. Enough it is to say that it was one of the most spectacular that Wall street and New York state have ever witnessed. In which a legislature and a judiciary on the one side and New York's thugs and criminal element on the other were used merely as pawns in the game of high finance.

For the first time Morgan was pitted against the dreaded Jay Gould, then one of the most sinister powers in the financial district. And for the first time Gould found that he had met his master.

Immediately after the reorganization of the Albany and Susquehanna in 1871 the firm of Dabney, Morgan & Co. dissolved. Morgan to take the partnership in the Drexel banking house, already mentioned, under the name of Drexel, Morgan & Co.

Allied With Vanderbilts.

Out of his vanquishing of Jay Gould grew this powerful alliance. So also did it gain Morgan the friendship and backing of William H. Vanderbilt, then the greatest antagonist of Gould in the railroad and financial field.

Meanwhile the elder Morgan had died, leaving his son something in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 and the control of the great English banking house, formerly Peabody & Co., but then and for years before J. S. Morgan & Co. Added to his own fortune. It enabled Morgan to branch out into fields hitherto forbidden him.

It was not, however, until 1878 that Morgan actually gained entrance to the first rank of the country's financiers. The country was still suffering from the terrible panic of five years before. Specie payments had not yet been resumed. For months the government had sought to market an issue of 4 per cent bonds, but the slowness of the public to take them up promised no speedy relief to the situation.

Then in November of that year, under Morgan's direction, the Morgan-Belmont-Rothschild syndicate was formed to take up a large part of the issue. Within a period of four months, from November to April, the syndicate had disposed of $260,000,000 of the bonds.

The taking over of these bonds and the marketing of them at a great profit—Drexel, Morgan & Co. netting $5,000,000 as their share—in a period of such great financial depression at once placed Morgan in the front rank of American financiers. From that time on his advance toward his future proportions was rapid.

In 1885, acting as the agent of William K. Vanderbilt, Morgan effected the lease in perpetuity of the West Shore railroad to the New York Central, which ended a battle that had continued for years and which threatened to throw both roads into bankruptcy.

Became Financial King.

It would take a library to tell of the great banker's achievements between 1885 and the present time. Railroads and industrial corporations came to him by the dozens and scores for expert counsel. And they all got it if they were ready to pay the price.

By 1900, despite occasional setbacks, Morgan was clearly the strongest individual financier alive. The combinations that he had fathered represented billions and billions of dollars.

In 1895, when, with August Belmont and others, he helped float the Cleveland bond issue, he was asked by the secretary of the treasury, John G. Carlisle, for security, he produced endorsements representing $500,000,000.

The formation of the billion dollar United States steel trust and the International Mercantile Marine, the latter perhaps his single serious failure, in 1901 and 1902 is sufficient to show how far he had progressed in that time.

Morgan was a man of marked characteristics. Aggressive in character and action, his very boldness in smashing down obstacles, coupled with a knowledge of how to apply money and power where they would produce most results, undoubtedly had much to do with his success.
